THE TRIBUNE.

The West Roxbury Community. [From a private letter from a gentleman who is a mem-ber of the Community known as Rev. Mr. Ripley's at Wes Roxbury, Mass. we make the following extract. A full account of this Community was published in The Tribune

everal menths ago.

BROOK FARM, August 3, 1842. Our considence in our movement is increased by every step we take. We know that we are infinitely nearer a true social state than Society generally, and this assurance cheers us in all sorts of circumstances. We are not doubtful either that on outward life expressive purely of Holiness, Beauty, Heroism, can finally be attained, and thus our courage is fresh and hopeful. We number now about seventy souls, of whom some fifteen are associates, the remainder pupils, boarders, and persons whose labor we are obliged to hire. We own two finished houses, hire another, and are building two more. As soon as these are done, we shall have not less than a hundred persons. Our department of Education is fully organized and efficient, and has thus far had remarkable success. Herein too, we think we have stimething petter than the ordinary, one-sided forcing method. We want mechanics. A shoemake:, a blacksmith and a carpester would serve us greatly, and keep within ourselves large sums which we now have to pay out.
We congratula's ourselves especially that our organization is not fixed and finished, but constantly tending toward something better. I am persuaded that our Association could not exist long if it were not so. And here I fear that an Association on Fourier's system might suffer .-That system seems to leave little to be done by circumstances, but starts with definite rales for every possible case. Still I desire to speak with great diffidence on this point, especially as my own experience shows me more and more the immense practical wisdom embodied in Fourier's plan. Particularly, I see the advantages of a large edifice sufficient for all the operations of an Association over detached buildings. Our plan is to have one large building for a dining-hall and kitchen, and to have the dwelling-houses and other buildings separate. Perhaps a combination of both plans would be better than either. I should not willingly give up the simple beauties of cottage erchitecture for the balece of a Phalanx.

The greatest difficulty we find is, what you would expect, the want of money. This limits us in every way. To remedy this we rely upon the toil of our hands more than any thing else. This is have easier times.

Adin Ballou's Community is going on well, as we hear. They lack the testhetic features which a just state of society must wear. They are, moreover, a sect, and thus cannot act universally, and will always embody certain vicious tendencies. But bere they have an infinite compensation in the Idealism belonging to purely religious movements.

Of our Northampton friends we have good ac-

When are we to see an organization on the plan of Fourier? Be assured we look with great interest upon your proceedings, for though we cannot hope so much as if you started purely from Ideas, we do full justice to your generous zeal.

The impulses that move the heart of the age are not to be mistaken. Fairer than the dream of a prophet the Future glimmers upon us. On all the currents of the time, clear or muddy as they may be, we are urged toward a larger Manhood than Man has yet conceived. The Kingdom of God, that has always filled now and then a soul, is descending into all men. These attempts after a perfect Society are plainly the most important things now doing. All other philanthropic effort is fragmentary and superficial, as if one would destroy a tree by cutting off here and there a branch.

A SUICIDE .- Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, a young man named Halfman, destroyed himself in one of the upper rooms of the Arcade, used as a gymnasium. We learn that the deceased was formerly one of the proprietors of the singing teom in the Arcade, called the Apollo Saloon, which he kept in conjunction with a Mr. Bee .-There is every reason to believe that pecuniary embarrassments and a want of employment, were the causes that excited the unfortunate deceased to rush unbidden into the presence of his Maker. He had applied more than once to Messrs. Sanderson & Son, for employment, and yesterday about two e'clock, he again called on these gentlemen, and solicited a situation. Mr. Sanderson replied that there was no opening at that time, but that they had not forgetten him, and would not, whenever a situation offered. He soon after went to the Arcade, and requested a boy there to load a pistol for him. It was done, and no sooner had Mr. Halfman obtained possession of it, than he put the muzzle into his mouth, fired, and the ball passed out at the back of his head. We are informed that [Phil. Inq. he soon after expired.

A MURDER.-Elijah Holly was murdered in Pulaski county, Geo., week before last, by Arthur Mock. They were both residents of said county, and a personal contest had previously taken place in which Mock was worsted. A few days after the recontre, Mock waylaid Holly in the woods, and shot him, as he was passing along the road, and immediately fled. Mock is much advanced in years, but Holly was a young, stout and strong man.

There is nothing purer than honesty; nothing sweeter than charity; nothing warmer than ove; nothing richer than wisdom; nothing brighter than virtue; and nothing more steadfast than faith. These united in one mind, form the purest, the sweetest, the warmest, the richest, the brightest, and the most steadfast happiness.

I A number of mills in this State, including a number of very large establishments, are not runing. The present is the most favorable season for manufacturing, when the days are long, and here is no light and fuel. When the winter arcives, we do not see how the manufacturers can possibly go on, unless a very decided improvement takes place. All eyes are now turned to Washingon fer relief, although not with very strong confilence of receiving it. [Providence Jour.

MECHANICS AND WORKINGMEN TAKING THE LEAD.-In Madison, Indiana, the Mayor is a cabhet-maker; the Marshal, a blacksmith; the City Attorney, a plasterer; the Secretary, a carpenter; the Assessor, a pattern-maker; the Collector, a tobacconist. Of the Town Council-three are tailors, two are carpenters, one a machinist, one a wheelwright and one a millwright. It is said the place is thriving, and the city affairs well and ably ACCIDENT. -The Carbondale Gazette mentions that" an Irish girl get on one of the cars, on Monlay, and while on the way got one of her feet trushed to pieces between a couple of cars. Also on the same day a lunatic girl, better known as crary Sally,' by some means, we did not learn low, got her toes cut off by a car passing over er foot en the railroad."

One of the most eminent oriental scholars the age is Professor Lee, of one of the English niversities, and yet all his education was acquired during the moments of leisure which he found while employed as a journeyman carpenter.

CHEAP COAL YARD, No. 70 Washington-street.—This Yard has been opened for the purpose of supplying an excellent article of fuel at a less price than can be obtained at any other place in the city.

The Coal at this yard is from a mine recently discovered, and is adapted to the use of Stoves. It burns slowly, producing an intense heat without smoke with a considerable flame; emits no sulphureous or bituminous vapor, and leaves a very small quantity of red ashes, like the "best Peach Orchard."

chard."

This Goal is nearly a pure natural carbon or charcoal, and approaching as nearly as possible to the description of Kilkenny Goal, but to be preferred as it contains no sulphur, a substance which renders that and many other coals peculiarly disagreeable and injurious to health when used for omestic purposes.

The fact of its never caking or adhering in cohesive mass. The fact of its never caking or adhering in cohesive masses, as well as its affording so little ashes to choak the grates, renders it extremely convenient and economical. When once perfectly ignited the fire is more durable than any other coal and requires less attention. Analyses by Dr. Chilton and Professor Silliman show it to possess uncommon strength. One advantage possessed by this Coal is the very small quantity in which it may be burned. When the fire chamber, or place containing the coal to be burned, is of small dimensions the Nut is most suitable. The small Egg will be found best adapted to fire chambers of large dimensions. It will be weighed on correct scales by an Hongar Man, and delivered in any part of the city free of cartage.
